OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20, 1866.

The ways of a committee in Congress are mysterious—especially of the Committee on Reconstruction. It meets several times a week and does—what nobody in the committee will tell, yet it is whispered that it is hard at work at least three evenings in every week. It is whispered that the committee is busy just now in examining certain prominent witnesses who are easily reached, upon the condition of the South, or, rather, of the rebel lious States. It would surprise no one if General Grant had been called before the committee—if Carl Shurz were to be examined and prominent Southern people who are now staying in Washington. I understand that it is the purpose of the committee to examine many of the leading men of the South—Union and rebel—that is, men who were Union during the war, and not those merely who are Union now. The committee means to look the matter over very carefully before committing itself to any line of policy. It did a very hand some thing in sending a sub-committee to the President before doing anything, to obtain his views. He was frank with the sub-committee, telling them without reserve that he desired the early admission of the members in the rebellious States to representation. Still he was kind and showed no disposition to quarrel with Congress, but a strong desire to go with his political friends if he could do so.

The reports which come up from the South of late are not encouraging. It is said that the Kentucky Legislature is thinking of electing Breckinridge to the Senate. In Richmond the young rebels who remain there busy themselves in trying to cowhide Northern residents. Further South there is a growing feeling against people from the North. No doubt it was a full appreciation of all these facts which led Gen. Grant to the decision he came to in reference to keeping the troops in all the Southern States for at least one year more. There is not the slightest prospect, I think, that the troops will be withdrawn from one of the States which went into the rebellion during the year 1866.

In Tennessee the Legislature very obstinately refuses to protect the freedmen in their civil rights, and so Gen. Grant gives orders to his troops to do it. It is singular that the Union men in the Legislature, who are in a majority, do not see where their interests lie and at once give to colored men the right to testify in the courts. It is said that they will do so very soon. In this way alone can they succeed in obtaining early admission to Congress, and if it were done it would be possible to secure admission to their representatives in a few weeks. This is the bar in the way and it is in the power of the Tennessee Legislature to take it down.

The Union feeling in the country part of Virginia is improving. It is in the cities that the disloyal manifestations are most offensive. The farmers and planters are sick of war and of contention, and want peace and a chance to get ahead with their improvements. They hate the negro and yet know that they cannot re-enslave him. They will oppose to the last any plans for his improvement—all sensible men know this—but they are not ready to risk their utter destruction by indulging in traitorous conduct.

There has been a great deal of excitement in this district as well as in Congress, during the week, over the bill giving the ballot to the negroes. The bill introduced in the House came from the Judiciary Committee, whose Chairman—Mr. Wilson, of Iowa—is a thorough-going radical. Therefore he introduced naked equality, and the suffrage for all within the proper ages. Three classes of speeches have been delivered in the House on the subject—1st, the opposition have opposed all negro suffrage, 2d, a large class of Republicans favor restricted suffrage—that is, the elective franchise restricted by educational and other qualifications—and 3d, the Republicans who advocate perfect equality in the elective franchise.

Gen. Grant has offended the opposition by giving his advice to the President (in an official shape) not to withdraw the troops from any of the rebellious States. This settles the question for the present, and the troops will remain in all the States. The Republicans are rejoiced at the turn events are taking, and will not object, I suppose, to giving to the Lieutenant General a still higher position—that of General. A fortnight ago I heard it whispered in some quarters that the Senate was a little in doubt as to the proper course to pursue with the bill introduced in the House giving Gen. Grant higher honors and better pay. After his report of the condition of the South and the sharp hint at Gen. Butler in his war report, many of the radical members of Congress felt very sore and indisposed to heap any further honors upon him. But they are growing more generous, especially since they have found out that his advice to the President was not to withdraw the troops. There are again whispers that he may become a Presidential candidate in 1868. It is too long way off, however to make any calculations. Better wait, gentlemen, two years longer!

The Cookes have been giving a sumptuous supper to the newspaper men of Washington, beginning with Speaker Colfax and some of the editors in Congress, and not neglecting some of the humblest of the correspondents. I wonder if another loan is soon to come before the markets, for the Cookes have been successful, principally through their thorough appreciation of the value of the newspapers. They have first gone to work to popularize a loan and then have sold it. To do this they spend hundreds of thousands of dollars on advertising. They conciliate newspaper men of all classes—publishers, editors and correspondents. Tehy always give a magnificent supper to the correspondents here in the course of the winter and their supper on Tuesday evening was no exception to the rule—it was worthy of the fame of the house.

It is rumored that Jay Cooke & Co. will soon have the job placed in their hands of selling one or two hundred millions of six per cent bonds, the funds paid in for the bonds being destroyed by Secretary McCulloch. Nothing is yet certain on this point however. The disposition of Congress is too extravagant, and the Secretary must wait to see whether any of the gigantic lobby schemes will be carried. A rough estimate of the bills before Congress show that they will take over a thousand millions from the Treasury. The War Department has sent in an official return showing that the bill to equalize bounties will take over six hundred millions of money, and the scheme to pay the war debts of the States will take two hundred millions more. If there is not sufficient courage to put the foot on these bills, they will bring ruin on the Government.

There is an exciting contest going on at the White House over the appointment of a Collector for the city of New York. It has lasted for several weeks and is now in as deep a fog as ever. Doubtless it will be settled long before this letter reaches Oregon but I should be derelict as a newspaper correspondent if I did not mention it. There are a dozen candidates, as there are not less than a dozen cliques in the city and State of New York. The President said the other day that he should like to cut all the cliques and take up a fresh man—but how can he? The entire New York delegation in Congress cannot be ignored entirely. Mr. Depew who was Secretary of State in New York, has nearly all the political influence at his back. Mr. Van Dyke has the bankers to support him. Mr. Smythe has hundreds of first class merchants as his friends, I might go on and name others. The Republican of this city has an amusing editorial over the situation of this quarrel. It says:

Artemus Ward once said that Harvard College was situated in the bar room of Parker's, on School street, Boston. Just now if we were called upon to locate New York it would be placed in the city of Washington. The hotels are crowded with committees and delegations of New York political celebrities. Old stagers are on the ground, representative men have taken quarters for the campaign. Every train brings fresh arrivals and the cry is still they come. Every day adds to the intensity of excitement, and swells the already fearful list of candidates.

It is a pleasant feature in our system and society, one which should awaken the sincerest emotions of congratulation that no matter what may be the emergency in the realm of patronage, it will never want for brave and patriotic men to meet the crisis. 'Nature abhors a vacuum,' and so do politicians. Delay in appointments to public positions are excusable perhaps in a place of such prominence as the Chief of Customs in the great city of New York, but they are always unfortunate because they never fail to augment the scramble, and by swelling the array of applicants, heighten and increase frequently the difficulties that postponement seeks to obviate."

Unfortunately the "conservative" and "radical" controversy is mixed up in the matter. Whoever is selected somebody will certainly be hurt—some one's toes will be trod on. A bold course is the safest one, and it is a pity, as the Republican intimates, that the President had not decided it weeks ago.

Mr. Bidwell of California has introduced an important bill into the House granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Central Pacific railroad in California to Portland in Oregon. These lands are granted to the "California and Oregon Railroad Company" and the usual principle is adopted in similar grants, that is, the alternate sections are reserved for the use of the Government. Where lands are occupied by settlers the company is at liberty to make a selection of a similar amount from other territory not occupied by the Government. A closing section gives to the "Puget Sound and Columbia River Railroad Company" a similar grant.

The feeling in the House toward California and Oregon is very kind, and the bill will have a very fair chance of being adopted.

STEAMER DAY.

Letter from Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, W. T., Feb. 28, 1866.

Our last advices to the OREGONIAN bore date 25th current. Inasmuch as the general business, trading prospects, and all that tends to the material prosperity of this place, cannot fail to concern the great central heart of Portland, whence we draw our principal supplies in the way of merchandise, etc., it seems to us that it is particularly apropos to "ventilate" the stream of passing details of the town occasionally. And the first thing of which to apprise you relates to the

which has been on the tapis since October last. Thus far the subject appears to be limited in its interest to the legal corps of Walla Walla, and a few ambitious politicians "on the outside." The Hons. W. G. Langford and J. H. Lasater are taking a stand in zealous support of the annexation of this county to Oregon; while P. P. Dugan and J. H. Blewett, Esq., (the latter holding the tri fold offices of County Auditor, Probate Judge and Clerk to Board Commissioners) are loud in their opposition to the measure. It is said that Langford and Dugan (lawyers) have Congressional aspirations, and by advocating or opposing the scheme they will attain the acme of their hopes the sooner. The columns of the Walla Walla Statesman are proffered for a full discussion of the merits or demerits of the question. The editorial decision of that paper remains to be delivered.

TRAVEL RESUMED.

The opening of spring and the resumption of trade give a new and gratifying phase to things hereabouts. Thomas & Co.'s stages are again running hence to the steamboat landing at Wallula—fare, each way, $5. A large crowd of passengers arrived by the stage last evening; among them we noticed the Honorable Judge Wyche, presiding in the 1st Judicial District of this Territory. The Judge looks well and hearty after a seven months sojourn in the Atlantic States. His re-appointment as Judge of this District has been confirmed by the U. S. Senate. B. N. Sexton, Esq., (County Clerk) who accompanied Judge W. east, also returned by to-day's coach. Many hard things have been said about the Judge since he left here last summer, and countless "swethenes deep and loud," have been sent down upon his "devoted head." We heard a friend say: "So Judge, they've been giving you 'fits' since you left?" "Well—yes," replied his honor, smilingly, "but we have to take our fortune as we find it!" We admired this bit of philosophy uttered by the good man. The next regular term of the court will commence the first Monday in April, S. B. Fargo, Prosecuting Attorney. Some four or five prisoners are in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury; two of them are soldiers of the Oregon volunteers, charged with robbing a Jewish peddler last fall near town. The civil docket is quite extensive.

THE MAILS

hence to Lewiston, Colville and Boise, arrive and depart with promtitude. The stages ply between here and Lewiston twice a week; fare $15.

"W. F. & CO."

A visit to the office of Wells, Fargo & Co. on Main street, affords the pleasing evidence of the great system, facility and faithfulness that characterize the management of that department. Mr. Condon, the agent in charge, assisted by Mr. J. Nelson, are universally popular and render satisfaction, etc.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The number of children that each day (or night!) are seeing the light of the world, is a subject of remark with the "physiologists" of the place, almost daily two or three bawling tenponders are brought forth to comfort doting parents. Marriages, too, are all the go, occurring chiefly among parties who crossed the plains last year. Of course, nobody ever dies in the Walla Walla Valley (?)—the climate is too salubrious—atmosphere the purest—delicious white—water—and the soil untainted with—malaria. We would advise the consumptives of Web-foot to give us a call and try the healthful, enervating, blood reinvigorating oxygen that sweeps around this part of christendom. Understand, we do not accuse your Oregon climate of engendering consumption—not at all—but to those who are so predisposed, a damp, moist atmosphere is surely injurious. There is no such thing as "catching the consumption," as we often hear the illiterate say; that is a specific, constitutional, hereditary blood disease—and no person ever in the world had it in his or her system from any other source than hereditary transmission, in other words, it was "born in them." We are aware that unscientific, unphilosophical charlatans will deny this; but the careful observation of multiplied instances, made upon both living and dead subjects, has settled this question; and it is now the received opinion of the best authorities in America and in Europe. Representation Should be Based on Votes

The principle which underlies the whole structure of our Government, is that of the equality of natural and political rights. We do not state this doctrine at this time for the purpose of arguing therefrom that political rights ought to be extended to classes who do not now possess them. We waive for the present the discussion of this question, and come to one which is more practical in its nature, and which may be brought home to every person who, while willing to accord full political rights to his equals, would not be willing to give them undue advantages over himself in this very important regard.

Slavery has been abolished, and four millions of persons have been set free. These persons are allowed no political rights. For our present purpose it may be conceded that they are not now and probably never will be qualified to possess and exercise them. In several of the States these people constitute more than one half, in others fully one half the entire population. Under the Constitution as it now stands, these persons will not be represented at all—a thing we are not disposed to complain about;—but by reason of their presence in these several States, the class who are represented will have twice as much power in Congress as their equals in the North. In making an enumeration of the people for the purpose of apportioning Representatives in Congress among the States, the blacks of South Carolina and Alabama will be counted, and as this class of population in those States is in excess of the whites, and as the latter alone exercise political rights, they will have more than twice as many Representatives in Congress as the same number of people in Iowa or Oregon. In other words, Connecticut with as large a white population will have only half as many Representatives, as Alabama. Fifty voters in Louisiana will have as much power as one hundred in any Northern State. This is not political equality; nor can any person successfully defend a rule which makes so unfair a discrimination.

The propriety and justice of the proposed constitutional amendment making votes the basis of representation, are apparent. The proposition is not a device to compel the South to enfranchise her colored population; but a measure which justice to the North demands. Were the amendment adopted, the South could give the ballot to the blacks if she chose; but if she should not choose to do so her people would still have equal political power with those of the North. It is impossible to conceive a measure nearly in accordance with justice than this; and the Union party of Oregon should make the proposition to amend the Constitution in this regard one of the issues in the coming campaign.

It is of little consequence that Secretary Seward or any one else declares against the proposed amendment. The authority of no statesman, however wise or sagacious, will suffice to convince intelligent people that it is just for one man at the South to have as much political power as two at the North. The proposition is too simple—too easy to be comprehended to be mystified even by one who is adroit enough "to make the worse appear the better reason."

POOR INNOCENTS.—The Augusta, Georgia, Constitutionalist, speaking of the Constitution of the United States and the action of the Northern people in relation thereto says:

How glad would we of the South welcome a return to the mild interpretings of the Constitution; how poignantly do we behold it trampled upon and spat at. That glorious compact has suffered pollution at the hands of fanatics, and the Federal Congress even now is, in major part, arrayed against it and us.

How ardent, how devoted are these poor innocents in their new awakened solicitude for the Constitution which they tore into fragments and put under their feet! How loudly do they bewail the violation and pollution by Northern men of the sacred instrument which these Southern "patriots" spurned from them! How difficult the task which devolves on the South of preserving unimpaired this glorious compact against the assaults of those who have freely given half a million lives for its maintenance and triumphant vindication! Truly Southern patriotism must be grieved to the heart to witness the efforts of Northern "fanatics" to destroy the instrument which they have given untold treasures of wealth and blood to save. A "Federal Congress arrayed against it and us"—"us," the true defenders of the Constitution—"us" who have suffered so much in its behalf—"us" who so "poignantly behold it trampled upon"—"us" who have never had a thought not in harmony with its teachings. In its work of defending the Constitution against "Northern fanaticism," the Georgia paper has many coadjutors in all parts of the country. The Copperhead press of this State chimes in with them, and the Oregon Statesman moves to the same measure. How strange that the South should have been all this time the defender of the Constitution and the Union, and the North their enemy. The Southern "patriots"—poor innocents—what have they not suffered in the cause of this country?

The Statesman of this week exclaims:

What? restore the National and State Governments to the control of men who desired to recognize the independence of the Southern Confederacy and thus dissolve the Union? Restore the Government to the control of men who justified the Southern rebellion? Restore the Government to the control of men who declared in their National Convention, at Chicago, that the war to maintain the Government was a failure? Restore the Government to the control of men who denied the right of the Government to protect itself from the arms of traitors? Never NEVER NEVER.

We ask the Statesman to dismiss its fears and be comforted. The Union party does not intend to yield the loyal States to the enemies of the Union. It is true that the President's "plan of reconstruction" which the Statesman so loudly commends, has given the South to the rebels, has restored the government of those States to the control of the men who desired the independence of the Southern Confederacy; but it is not to be inferred from this that the loyal States are going into the hands of the Copperheads.

It is said that when C. D. W. Smith the late Secretary of Idaho Territory died he had in possession about $5,000 of United States funds. This money cannot be found, and the presumption is that it has been stolen by somebody.

South America and Spain.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The Herald's Havana correspondent writes that the last Spanish mail steamer from Spain which arrived there on the 17th inst. left Cadiz on the 21 under sealed orders from the Government, which when opened were found to be that the Captain was not to touch at any of the intermediate ports but to proceed direct to his destination, and if he met with any Spanish vessels of war to inform them of the attitude assumed by Spain in regard to Chile and Peru. It is said further that he was the bearer of Government dispatches to the Captain General with orders to send out 76,000 troops to join the squadron in the Pacific. It is stated that Gen. Dulces has strong objections to any such thing, not only in view of the uncertain and perplexing aspect of the times, but also owing to the difficulty of providing for such an emergency.

Resolutions by the N. Y. Senate.

BUFFALO, March 1.—In the N. Y. Senate today, Low offered the following resolutions, which were referred to a select committee of five:

Resolved, That in the judgment of this Senate it is the right and duty of Congress to determine when and upon what conditions the rebel States shall resume their former relations with the Federal Government, and be entitled to their representation in Congress.

Resolved, That the immediate and unconditional admission of the senators and representatives from the rebel States with their increased representation in Congress and without further guarantees to secure the rights of freedmen and loyal citizens of the United States would be unjust toward the people of the loyal States, and grievously wrong to those inclined to our protection, who have stood by the Government and been faithful to the flag throughout the rebellion.

Resolved, That recognizing in Congress a body of faithful champions of constitutional liberty, truly reflecting and representing the wishes of their constituents, we shall look to them, in co operation with the President, to initiate and perfect such measures as shall secure to the States in rebellion the admission of their Representatives in Congress upon such terms as shall be just to the North, as shall protect from wrong the loyalists of the South, and as will secure to all men the equal enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Resolved, That His Excellency the Governor be requested to transmit copies of these resolutions to the President and to our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Miscellaneous

NEW YORK, March 1st.—The California overland mails of January 31st and February 1st were received to-day.

The Commissioners estimate that a revenue of six millions annually can be obtained from refined petroleum at 20 cents per gallon.

Foreign.

NEW YORK, March 1.—In the House of Commons, on Feb. 15th Lord Cardwell introduced a bill for the future government of Jamaica. He briefly explained that the Government had thought fit to ratify the decision which the legislature of Jamaica had arrived at abolishing itself, and it would be proposed to establish a government similar to that in Trinidad for a period of three years, and if the experiment was successful there it would be made permanent. If not, some other arrangement would be devised.

Latour gave notice that on February 23d he would call attention to the inadequacy of the neutrality laws to enable England to fulfill her international obligations toward foreign countries. The Government bill on the cattle disease was debated and amended in several particulars, and passed through committee. In the House of Lords Earl Russell introduced the proposed suspension of habeas corpus in Ireland, and asked the House to sit on Saturday, the 17th, that no time be lost in passing it. Earl Derby said it would become the Government to justify the course it was about to take. If the House of Commons would agree, he would oppose a moment's delay, but he hoped at the earliest possible period the Government would give the grounds on which they relied for justification of their proceedings.

The London Times says: The Irish Government is of course better informed than any private persons can be, as to the state of the country and the imminence of the danger, but in the increased activity of movements during the past month, and the presence of numbers of persons in the various districts with the scarcely concealed purpose of promoting insurrection, there is ample reason for the strictest precautions. The object of the Irish Government is doubtless to secure some of the emissaries of American Fenianism who are arousing Ireland, and work ing with disastrous effect on the people.

The London Morning Herald, the conservative organ, says: The Government will be supported in this measure.

The Army and Navy Gazette says: The troops in Ireland are being distributed more and more among the small towns.

It is rumored that Sir Charles Wood, late Secretary for the Indies, has been offered and accepted the peerage.

The Daily News believes the Government has acceded to the proposition of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in Ireland, and that hence forth the Senate of the Queen's University in Ireland, will consist of half Protestants and half Catholics.

In the debate on the address to the Emperor, M. de Persigny contended that English parliamentary institutions were unsuited to France. The Emperor, he said, had given to France dual liberty, founded on the solid basis of authority. It depended on public opinion to develop the liberty granted by the Constitution. After debate the address in response to the Emperor's speech was unanimously adopted.

In the House of Commons Sir Geo. Grey, on asking leave to bring on bills suspending the habeas corpus act in Ireland, said the Fenian conspiracy had only recently assumed its present proportions. It was necessary to strike an effective blow at the Fenian scheme, which were wholly the matter hatched by the American Government. The loyalty of the British army was beyond doubt. The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland earnestly requested a suspension of the act saying he would not hold himself responsible for the safety of the country if power was withheld from him.

D'Israeli concurred in the remarks of Sir George Grey. Bright protested against the suspension of the act but said he would not oppose the Government. Leave was then given to suspend the habeas corpus act by a vote of 364 to 6. The bill was then passed through all the stages and sent to the House of Lords, who likewise passed it without opposition.

A letter from Rome says it is believed that at the next consistory a Bishop of the United States will receive a cardinal's hat.

A large meeting has been held in Exeter Hall under the auspices of the Freedmen's Aid Society to celebrate the passage of the constitutional amendment in America and the consequent legal destruction of slavery. Speeches in favor of a [illegible] between England and America were made and loudly applauded.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Royal assent to the bill suspending the habeas corpus act in Ireland was given last night.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The steamship Hermann from Bremen the 12th and Southampton the 14th, has arrived.

London consols for money 87 and 87¼. 5 20's 6[illegible]

London Times says the new reform bill will consist simply of lowering the franchise in boroughs to six pounds and in counties to fifty pounds occupation.

It seems that Earl Russell acts on Bright's advice, resolving to risk the existence of the administration on the success of the bill. We cannot suppose that the Government believes such a bill will be acceptable as a settlement of the Reform question. The conduct of the ministry on the reform question seems to show that they are themselves conscious they are settling down.

In the French Senate, Marshall Forey said the return of French troops from Mexico would not take place as speedily as it appeared to be desired in France and even advised that French reinforcements be sent out.

M. Rouher said on behalf of the Government that these opinions were the Marshal's opinions, the views of the Government were embodied in the speech from the throne and the address.

Best Overshot Wheel in Existence.

Prices Greatly Reduced!

Prices Greatly Reduced!

LEFFEL'S

American Double Turbine Water Wheel

IS NOW MANUFACTURED BY THE OREGON IRON Works, in the City of Portland, and orders for the same can be filled immediately. We have a small supply of the different sizes from 10 inches to 48 inches in diameter. That we may know the proper sized wheel you require, measure your water in the following way: Take the width of the stream, the average depth, and the distance it flows in a minute.

All the wheels now in use give universal satisfaction. Both the construction of the wheel and its performance, commend it to the better judgment of all minds capable of appreciating the highest development of mechanical construction. Therefore it has conquered the most violent opposition.

This wheel is especially adapted to mining purposes. It is light, and can be easily packed into the mountains. Wheels weighing from 100 to 400 pounds will yield from 10 to 40 horse power, under a head of 25 or 30 feet. They are the cheapest wheel to set up known, as they are arranged as to produce the greatest power possible from the water used.

The prices of these wheels have now been reduced to the ability of all. Come and see them or send for a circular to

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California—a selection of the best articles appearing in THE DAILY OREGONIAN—full and reliable news from the State, and the most copious commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is double that published by any other journal in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon intrastate.

Single copies 12½ cents, or $3 00 per year, to any part of the United States or British Columbia.

IN REGARD TO PILOTS.—We at all times desire to be correct in what we write. We do not know of an instance wherein we have done a party injustice and refused to repair it. — ago—there is nothing wilful in our composition. On February 20th, an article was written in regard to the pilots at the mouth of the Columbia river. It was intended to direct attention to the complaints of ship masters and steamship commanders concerning the monopoly of the tug boat Rabboni. Application has been made for an appeal. Our decision with regard to the law may have been an error, so far as it applies to the rates of pilotage—which were stated to be greater under the new regulation. As regards the balance we see no cause to change our opinion. That the master of the Rabboni, to whom we have always felt kindly, has deceived us there no longer remains a doubt in our mind, and in future we shall be a little inclined to doubt him. But why appeal for favorable mention, and forward that appeal by the Montana, a ship that was detained outside as will be seen by the memoranda, fifty-six hours, uselessly? There can be no excuse for this last act. The agents of the Montana had given notice that she would arrive at the bar about such a time, and why was not the Rabboni there to put a pilot on board of her, instead of tacking about and going up to Astoria for wood? As to why that wood had not been done before, and the tug ready to go out, we are not satisfied. The bark Almatia was in the offing about the same time, if we are correctly informed, and the tug should have been ready to tow her in, at the time she should have put a pilot on the Montana. We presume the next time the machinery of the Rabboni is "out of order," which is likely to happen at about the time the bark W. B. Scranton, (in which the master of the Rabboni is part owner, is ready to come up the river), we shall see Capt. Corno, and the whole matter will be made right.

ARRIVAL OF THE MONTANA.—The steamship Montana, Capt. Kelly, arrived at her wharf in this city yesterday [illegible] at 7 o'clock A. M. The Montana is already very well known, as the first of three propellers to run regularly in the line between this city and San Francisco, in opposition to the existing monopoly, formed by a combination of the Holladay Line and the California Steam Navigation Company. She is an excellent sea boat, and has accommodations not inferior to any steamship on the coast, except perhaps in the matter of comfort. She is far superior in point of safety, that is until the wooden steamers our people have been obliged to trust their lives the past several years. [illegible] of passengers arrived by the Montana, who are universal in their commendations of the [illegible] and attentions paid the traveling community on board of her. She brings 600 tons of cargo, and the following passengers: Wm Corbett, Collector Adams, H Victor, E Cheney, H M Childers, A [illegible], W B Douglas, G M Kurtz, J N O'Flagherty, J K Leland, W Morton, D G Voorhies, A Gwin, Henry Failing, J Kelley, J H Cole, B F Mudd, H H Wilson, A Chaney, A Hyslop, J M Crayton, P T Gibson, R M Caples, Wm McEwen, J Holman, J Stewart, J S Fisher, H Mackay, Annie Cunningham, Mrs R J Baxter, A Cohn, Frank [illegible], P B Holmes, and 70 others.

THE [illegible] PASSENGERS.—The following testimonial by the [illegible] of the steamship Montana, have been [illegible] to us for publication. It was signed by eighty-three [illegible] including all the cabin and a portion of the [illegible] passengers:

"We, the undersigned passengers of the opposition [illegible] during her recent trip from San Francisco [illegible], take unfeigned pleasure in testifying to the [illegible] management, correct, gentlemanly and [illegible] department of the Commander and officers of said [illegible] — from the usual and customary deport [illegible] characteristic of the old [illegible] on this coast, has been so keen so marked [illegible] it would be an act of injustice to the public [illegible] utility to it. Capt. Kelly deserves our thanks [illegible] he has not thrust the usual steamship [illegible] upon us, but gave in its lieu solid, substantial [illegible] treatment. The ship and its conduct [illegible] that an exacting traveling public could expect.

[illegible] we cannot but censure the conduct of the [illegible] of the Columbia river bar, for its conduct [illegible] detention of our good ship outside of [illegible] fifty-six extra hours, lengthening by [illegible] arrival at our port of destination, and prolonging [illegible] otherwise quick and pleasant. Signed J. K. [illegible], B. F. Mudd, A. Cohn, H. C. Victor, J. D. [illegible], Wm. Corbett, D. G. Vorhies, P B. Holmes, J. B. Fisher, and 75 others."

[illegible] CASE.—James Lambert was yesterday sentenced [illegible] Court, for a term of three years in the [illegible] having confessed stealing $1,600 from a [illegible] in East Portland. It was understood [illegible] would make a written statement of the [illegible] in his sentence, but he did nothing more than [illegible] why sentence should not be [illegible]. There are rumors afloat in private circles, concerning [illegible] of those buildings the night Lambert [illegible], which may eventually ripen into well [illegible] facts, and it is possible Lambert may yet [illegible] a charge of arson. That he is an injured [illegible] and made the confession he has for "the benefit [illegible]" we are inclined to believe but little of it. [illegible] any "statement" to make he had better [illegible] away the mist that hangs over his case. [illegible] the robbed party is yet here, and without [illegible] be done him as well as Lambert.

[illegible] TALMAGE WHEEL.—The Athens (O.) Messenger [illegible] 20th has the following paragraph in regard to one of the [illegible] inventions of the age:

[illegible] —we to say, that one of the best mill-[illegible] Valley claimed that he could build a [illegible]-wheel which would successfully compete with [illegible] Turbine Wheel," he was employed by Mr. [illegible] everything desired by him was furnished, the [illegible] built on the re-acting principle, and is now in use in Mr. B.'s mill just east of this place; there are, also, three of the Leffel wheels in use in the same mill. It takes as much water to turn the wooden wheel as it does all three of the others, and yet it has no more power than one of the others.

[illegible] ARREST.—Yesterday a woman named Barbary Miller, and a man named A. Clark, were arrested on a [illegible] of Charles Burnett, for [illegible] with intent to [illegible] larceny. The circumstances likely to be developed in the examination of the case to-day before Justice Holmes are, that [illegible] before last the woman, and man Clark, [illegible] Burnett away from the Star of the Union Saloon, at near midnight, and when in the vicinity of Third St. [illegible], on that, assaulted him for the purpose of [illegible] his money, which it was supposed he had considerable of, as he had been lavishly spending it at the saloon where [illegible], among the "boys" and girls. The [illegible]

[illegible] Notwithstanding Richardson "[illegible]" on the 27th ult., he has been unable to quit the [illegible] by every steamer, and by sail contract [illegible] his quarters on the corner of Oak and Pine [illegible] any amount of desirable furniture etc., to "[illegible] account." He has a very attractive sale today. See adver[illegible]

THE FESTIVAL.—The Festival last evening for the benefit of the [illegible] School of the Congregational Church was well attended and everything passed off very agreeably. The large room in Dr. Glenn's new brick building was [illegible] [illegible] a considerable portion of the evening. Everything was tastefully and beautifully arranged, the tables were loaded with "good things, and every body [illegible] pleased and satisfied.

[illegible] TRIALS.—In Recorder's court yesterday John [illegible] paid a fine of $5 and costs for breaking glasses at the Lincoln House Saloon. He also settled for the broken [illegible] A. J. McBean forfeited bonds deposited for his appearance on a charge of smashing windows at a house of bad repute, on the corner of Second and Alder streets.

P[illegible] —Hon. H. C. Gibson Secretary of the Territory of Idaho, arrived in our city on Tuesday last, and has been stopping at Arrigoni's. During his stay in Portland he has been the recipient of all those refined and hospitable amenities due to gentlemen of his [illegible].

OVERWEIGHT.—Letters continue to flow into Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office that are overweight and cannot be forwarded under the laws. When will people learn to attend to this matter more carefully?

HELD TO ANSWER.—R. G. Dunlap, defendant in the case of libel wherein Smith was complainant was held to answer at the Circuit Court. Richard Brown, also a defendant, was discharged.

WILLAMETTE THEATER.—The public are advised that this is positively the last night but one, on which the Ward Company will perform in the old Theatre.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.—The Rev. Mr. Montieth of Albany, late of Wisconsin will preach in the First Presbyterian Church in this place on to-morrow.

HER QUITE CLEAR.—The editor of the Lafayette Courier has had a conversation on political matters with a distinguished citizen of Yamhill county, and finds that said citizen, "coincides with President Johnson's late views that destructiveness is not to be pursued." We always knew the President's policy was a thing exceedingly difficult to comprehend but had no idea it was quite so unintelligible as the language of the Courier would imply.

AN ARTICLE OF TRUE MERIT.—Brown's Bronchial Troches" are the most popular article in this country & Europe for Throat Diseases and Coughs, and this [illegible] is based upon real merit, which cannot be said of many other preparations in the market, which are really but weak imitations of the genuine Troches.

Portland Turn Verein.—A Regular Meeting will be held at the Turn Verein Hall, Sunday, 4th inst., at 11 o'clock A. M. A full attendance is requested.

THE SANTIAM MINES.—The following report of the first crushing and cleaning up" at the Santiam Quartz Mill is furnished the Statesman by Mr Seibert, Superintendent:

The Battery run ten days and nights and the amalgamating pans thirteen days and nights. The whole amount of rock worked up was fifty tons, of which thirty tons came out of the first part of the tunnel, and was badly mixed with granite and casings so much so that it was estimated to be in reality not more than one-sixth quartz rock. Of the remaining twenty tons of the fifty worked, not more than one half was quartz rock. It was not expected by any one that the thirty tons named above would yield anything worth looking after but as the machinery was all new and would have to be scoured and cleaned by rock of some kind it was best to use this rock for that purpose and ascertain if it would yield anything. The result showed five ounces of retorted gold for this thirty tons of which only about ten tons was quartz. After this was worked through the twenty tons was run through, and seventeen ounces of retorted gold found to be the yield procured from really not more than ten tons of quartz. The Superintendent says that hereafter it will be quite easy to separate the quartz from the granite, as in the lower tunnels of the Union and Santiam Companies on both the White Bull and Driggs lodes the veins are better defined, and the granite growing less in quantity. To give a better estimate of the value of the White Bull lead from which this quartz was taken we will state that one hundred and eighty three tons of this character of quartz have been taken from a tunnel of 101 feet in depth, and that, counting the rich specimens heretofore taken out and reduced at Portland and the yield of the above fifty tons, the tunnel has yielded about $1 300 with one hundred and thirty three tons of rock yet on hand to work up. In this connection we can state that a large part of the last twenty tons crushed came from the back end of the tunnel next to the Santiam Company's claims and that it contained large hard lumps of rock and that these lumps were broken, the granite thrown to one side and the hard quartz fell to a particular stamp, and that, in cleaning up large cakes and pieces of amalgam were found about this particular stamp, showing that it is the quartz rock that yields the gold, and that the Santiam Co's claim is equally good with the other. It is also proper to state here, to give all necessary information, that the last twenty tons were not picked rock, as some have suggested, but that, in bringing all this 183 tons down from the mine, it was necessary to keep one man in the mill with a shovel to distribute each car load as it was dumped in, in order to prevent too much weight at one point of the mill floor and in this way the whole mass of the rock (excepting the thirty tons which was purposely kept separate by boards) was evenly and regularly mixed and distributed.

It will doubtless be asked why the mill stops now. In order to answer all the questions, we can state that it was impossible to keep the men in the mountains any longer. It has been an extremely hard winter on them, and they have lived on plain bread, beans and bacon all winter, and done without all the comforts of life, and having stayed long enough to prove the value of the mines, they declined to work any longer until they had made a visit to "the white settlements," and receive supplies of stores.

In view of all the drawbacks, imperfect machinery inexperienced hands to help the superintendent, the result is considered very flattering. We append the following statement of the lengths of tunnels:

Upper, Union tunnel, on White Bull	101 feet
Middle, Union tunnel, on White Bull	72 "
Lower Union tunnel, on White Bull	80
This lower tunnel is a side tunnel, to strike both the White Bull and the Driggs lodes
Union tunnel on Smith lode	50 feet
Union tunnel on Driggs lode	50
Upper, Santiam tunnel, on White Bull	75 "
Middle, Santiam tunnel, on White Bull	108 "
Lower, Santiam tunnel, on White Bull (with fine prospects)	30
Upper, Salem Co.'s tunnel on Driggs lode (with good gold rock)	50 "
Lower, Salem Co.'s tunnel, on Driggs lode (with fine silver rock)	150 "

The Oregon Company's side tunnel had just reached the lead at the depth of 72 feet.

MONTANA NEWS.—The Helena (Montana) Radiator of January 27th contains the following:

Mr. D. A. O'Donnell, of Oregon Gulch, on his way to this city, was frozen to death last Friday night (19th) within one and a half miles from the Prickly Pear river. It is supposed that the drifting of the snow so bewildered him that he was unable to proceed in the right direction, and becoming exhausted and benumbed lay or fell down and perished. Mr. W. L. Milligan was the first to discover the body and take charge of the effects found upon him. They were promptly delivered over to Mr. John Toombs, partner of deceased, who desires in this manner to extend and make known his gratitude to Mr. Milligan. Some $590 in dust was found on the body which was weighed with scrupulous honesty and accounted for to the last cent. The remains were brought to this city for interment on Wednesday.

Mr. R. B. Belcher, of Belcher & Peling, has shown us a nugget taken from his claim in Tucker's gulch, only a short distance from the spot that contained the large lump, recorded by us some weeks ago. This one weighs $58, and is about the roughest specimen of gold we have ever seen, except some smaller gold which he took from the same claim, none of which appears to have ever been moved from the spot where nature placed it, when the "morning stars sang together," and God lit up the moon and hung the world on nothing. One of the smallest specks weighed $21, and Mr. B. had about $120 more, of smaller pieces, all as rough as honey comb. He did not leave any of it at the office.

A miner from Eureka Flat exhibited to us on Tuesday, some of the prettiest gold we have seen in the territory. This gentleman washed out five hundred dollars of this dust from eight wagon loads of dirt which he hauled half a mile to water. This work has all been done within the last two months, besides the survey of a ditch and other work that has consumed two thirds of the time. Oregon, New York, Rattlesnake, and California gulches are all in good repute, and believed to be rich. A trading post at Oregon supplies miners with grub.

A gentleman arrived from Deer Lodge on Tuesday evening having been four days on the road. This is the first arrival from that locality since the storm. He started on snow shoes but as he found the snow too light to bear him he threw them away and waded through as best he could, finding little difficulty. The snow on the valley was not so deep as on the Prickly Pear, yet stock men had some fears concerning poor cattle.

A gentleman on Wednesday last, showed us specimens from the celebrated Sultana lode, that looked to be very rich. He also showed us a sample of rock from a recent discovery only two miles from town, that by comparison appeared even better than the Sultana. This new mine has not as yet been named.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

N. B.—Particular attention is requested to the advantages afforded by the payment of the premiums, on both Life and Endowment assurance policies, in TEN ANNUAL INSTALLMENTS. The rates of such premiums charged by this Company are lower while the dividends are greater, than in any other life company in the United States. As an additional inducement, the Company will, on surrender of such policy, issue a paid up policy for an equitable sum, which they will guarantee SHALL EXCEED the proportionate amount.

For instance, on surrender of a policy for $10,000 (other amounts in the same proportion,) on which the premiums are payable in ten annual instalments, the Company will issue a PAID-UP POLICY which they will guarantee.

After the payment of 2 premiums SHALL EXCEED $2000

And so on. On the Five Year Life Plan the pro rata is double.

ENDOWMENT POLICIES are issued payable to the assured at death or any age between 40 and 05, with full participation in the surplus of the Company, thus combining Life Insurance with a safe and profitable investment.

It has been clearly proven that there is no way of investing where amounts are paid in small installments is so safe and advantageous a manner—and bring in as large returns as in an Endowment Policy in this Company. They are also beginning to be considered an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY by Merchants and others—for aside from a Life Insurance, it constitutes the finest form of collateral to have by them, upon which to borrow or convert into cash in cases of emergency.

Speech of General Butler—His Indictment of Lee and Davis

General Butler delivered an address at the Soldiers and Sailors National Convention in Washington on the 2[?]d ult, in which he spoke as follows of General Lee, Jeff Davis and the loyal Southerners

ROBERT E. LEE

• • • I have given you my friends feebly, the sketch of a true American soldier Let me give you another sketch There was once a soldier of the country bearing one of its proudest names, intermarrying into a family which the country delighted to honor who had received from a country, grateful for the deeds of its ancestors, the highest education it could afford to give who had been the petted soldier of the country, beloved by his Commander in Chief, almost the staff of his old age When disorder and civil commotions and rebellion broke out, the old Chief leaned upon the younger soldier as upon his staff—made him the confidant of his secrets and the depositary of his plans But suddenly that soldier departed from the ranks of his country's service, and within two days of the time when his resignation was accepted was found fighting in the ranks of the enemy, and in a higher command. During a long and bloody war he saw his former fellow officers and soldiers starved in prison under his very eye—saw that from very desperation they burrowed out through the ground—and never raised a voice in their behalf, although his word was omnipotent, and although the enemy depended wholly on his word. He saw the officers and soldiers of the country that reared and honored him murdered by thousands in the prisons, and never said a word in their behalf At last, after every means of resistance had failed, after having carried on a war which he knew to be hopeless, and after having fought his army until he diminished it to 7,200 muskets, he surrendered at last, after writing a note to the commander of the opposite army, stating that "frankly" he did not consider that the time of surrender had come That man is now a teacher of the youth of the country, to tell them their duty to their flag, their country and their God If this is to be so, fellow soldiers, have we not shed our blood in vain, and are not our lost comrades simply murdered uselessly murdered, without hope in this world, and only with hope in the resurrection?

What is the plea to be interposed in favor of this man? The right of secession—that he went with his State? But suppose that that plea is a false one, what shall we say then? Robert E. Lee resigned his commission on the 19th of April, 1861, at the same time that our neighbors were murdered in Baltimore. On the 17th day of the same April Virginia had passed an ordinance of secession, which was not to take effect until voted on by the people on the third Tuesday of May, five weeks afterward. On the 19th of April, I say, General Lee resigned his commission, or rather it was accepted on that day, after it had been through the various offices of the Department in Washington, and on the 23d of April he was appointed Commander in Chief of the rebel forces in Virginia. His State had not then seceded, but, on the contrary, he, at the point of the bayonet, carried her out of the Union and forced the vote on the third Tuesday of May following. And yet there has not been strength enough in this Government so far—a Government that could put a million men in the field at once, and that did in the last campaign put into the field one million six hundred thousand men—to bring that man to trial and ascertain whether or not treason is a crime and ought to be punished. [Applause.]

I have not yet spoken of another and greater—no, another and different—criminal. I am now speaking of a man who I think can be, within the spirit of your resolution, tried by a military commission, and to which all the people will say amen. I put it to you, fellow-soldiers, as military men, whether deserting the flag of our nation and taking service within two days afterward in the ranks of the enemy is not a military crime for which a man is amenable to a military tribunal? I think there can be no doubt upon that question. I would like to see him tried for that military offense. I do not think that any subsequent parole, got out of too much credulity, that the time had not come to surrender the Northern Army of Virginia, would be a good plea. I desire to see that man tried so that it may be understood hereafter that it is death upon the gallows for any man to desert his flag and take service with the enemies of his country. [Great applause.]

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Turn we to another man, for whom there are other considerations of excuse—to Jefferson Davis, educated in the like school (unfortunate, perhaps, for the school that it should have two such pupils)—who went into the military service of his country, where he behaved honorably and well. I do not know but that I might have to apply to him the saying of a rough Whig to Arnold, in the days of the Revolution. Arnold asked him what would be done to him if he was caught by the Americans. "Why," said the Whig, "I think we should bury the leg that was wounded at Quebec with all the honors of war, and hang the rest of you on a gibbet." So with Davis. We might have to bury, with the honors of war, one arm that was wounded in Mexico, and hang the rest of him. [Laughter and applause.] He had the plea, however, which the soldier had not, that his State had revolted.

Waiting until Mississippi went out, Jefferson Davis quits the halls of Congress to take the office of Provisional President in the Confederate States. An office created and made ready for him as soon as he should be ready to take it. He, all-powerful in the Confederacy, with a will of iron, with prayers and proclamations to the Divine mercy on his lips, stands by and sees our comrades starved and murdered day by day. I think it is of no great consequence whether it can be proved or not that he directly ordered it. Certain it is that it could not have been done if he did not wish it. He saw the horrors of Andersonville and does nothing to prevent them. Whether or not he has any complicity in the last great act of infamous guilt, the murder of the President, no man may yet know. But whether he had or not, I desire to see him tried by a Military Commission, as the tribunal which arose out of the power he evoked for the purpose of severing the Union. I should like to see the crime of the civil magistrate who ... his post and levies war against his country not only made odious but punished on the gallows, so that no Representative or Senator shall hereafter in these halls plot treason and execute it outside. After that will be a time to pause and see what is best to be done next.

LOYAL SOUTHERNERS.

Mr. President, I believe I have spoken to every portion of your resolutions that struck my ear, and given you thus curiously and discursively my views upon it. But there is one topic upon which I think they do not treat, and which yet deserves mention. It is the question of what shall be done for that class of our fellow-soldiers who lived in the Confederate States, I do not refer now to the colored men, but to those true men who, against every inducement and intimidation, stood up nobly for the old flag. Do you not think that such noble and stern men are entitled to your consideration? And would you not, if they were here in numbers, give them a special resolution?

What would you say to the North Carolinian, the Tennesseean, the Kentuckian, the Missourian, the Alabamian, aye, and the Louisianian, who stood by the old flag? They got no bounties for joining the armies of the United States On the contrary, there was everything to deter them from doing so. They joined the army on the certainty that they stood on a par with him who addresses you—that we were all to be hung at sight, if caught. [Laughter.] Many of them saw their comrades executed.

Let me state here what actually took place in the Department of North Carolina. A regiment of North Carolinians enlisted, and a portion of the regiment was captured at Plymouth Twenty two of the regiment were tried and hanged by order of General Pickett, a former officer of the United States army, simply because they were loyal to the flag and country which gave them birth. And what do you think was the answer of General Pickett to the officer who demanded an explanation, and wrote to him that retaliation might be taken on officers of the Confederacy? The answer was: "If the officers on whom you retaliate are those who have deserted from the United States service, I think you would do right to hang them." We happened to have in our hands no such officers at that moment, but I thought the suggestion an exceedingly good one, coming from Pickett, who had himself deserted the service of the United States and gone into the service of the Confederacy I think that letter of General Pickett is eminently suggestive of what is our duty

As to those true men of the South, I think they are worthy of a separate resolution Even if a mo of you do not agree with me in the idea of distributing some Southern land among Northern soldiers, surely no person can stand up and argue against the proposition to distribute a few acres of the lands of the South among those loyal friends who fought for them and fought for us. If you would take in a few black men in the same way it would not hurt the argument any in my opinion But I am now speaking for my white brethren of the South—men for whom I have the highest respect, who were faithful among the faithless found, and with whom I have perhaps something of a fellow feeling—caused by a circumstance to which I have just now alluded

I pray you excuse me, fellow soldiers, if I show a little of this fellow feeling for them in suggesting that the lands of their rebel neighbors, who overawed them, hunted them down, shot their comrades and hung all of them that they could catch should be at least in ... among them as a compensation for 1861 says they stood in standing by the Union so that hereafter every man in the country may know that if he stands by the flag it will protect him and will sooner or later reward him for his devotion

Messrs Berkins and Biedler left Fort Benton on the 12th of January and traveled sixty miles to Sun river, through a severe snow storm There they found a large number of stampeders encamped several of whom were severely frozen

One party on their return from upper Sun river report that they found the skeleton of a man in a cave where he appears to have crawled for shelter either from the weather or Indians They also found the remains of a horse which, from their position appeared to have been shot and used as a breast work The depth of snow and severity of the cold obliged them to return without further search

At every ranch on the road, there were persons more or less frozen At Wolf Creek there is but one sound man The Pegan Indians found a white man on the Teton, and, after robbing him were proceeding to murder their captive, when two of the Indians relented, took him away escorted him within sight of the Fort and watched him from the bluffs until they saw him safe within its limits

Some Gros Ventres, white men and half breeds have gone into the Pegan country to recover stolen horses and none of them have returned, after having been gone over thirty days, and expected to return in ten Paul Vernard, of the Dearborn, and Chas McKay, are of the party

Messrs J. X. Biedler and Berkens, who have arrived from Fort Benton, have kindly permitted us to examine a statement made to them in writing by Messrs H A Kennedy, Thos A Steele J Healey, Wm T Hamilton, and A B Hamilton, of Fort Benton, in which a deplorable state of affairs are set forth Since the conclusion of the treaty, which Gen Meagher made with them on the 16th of November, there has scarcely been a cessation to the depredations of the Indians of the Pegan, Blood, and Blackfoot tribes A want of room compels us to omit the major portion of the list of grievances contained in their statement and we give only the conclusion Messrs Hencke and LaGroe went out to the Gros Ventres camp to reclaim stolen stock, and on their return were overtaken by a storm, were surprised in camp by a party of Pegans and murdered The people are determined to place themselves on a war footing and adopt the motto "Wipe out the name of Pegan, Blood and Blackfoot"

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, March 2, 1866

Business for the period under review has been exceedingly good, and trade seems to open with a promise of great regularity The weather undoubtedly stimulates ... and imparts a little more vitality to the general markets The amount of transactions for the week have been large, and in some cases extraordinary

By the arrival of the steamship Montana we have dates to February 25th from San Francisco the leading features of the markets, however, have been anticipated by telegraph, and subsequent events are not important

The new steam opposition to the Pacific Steamship Company between New York and San Francisco does not find favor with the New Yorkers and we are advised by telegraph that the line will not go into operation

The first steamer of the opposition between this city and San Francisco has arrived, and she is a fine new ship, of 1,013 tons, 212 feet long, 31 feet beam and handsome power She is very economically run is fast and well calculated for this trade. Her appearance bids fair to verify the axiom that "competition is the life of trade" as the rates of freight and fare, before her appearance, were actually, certainly and surely ruinous the trade of Oregon but now there is a stimulation of shipments and our people owe the Montana their support

Since the date of our last review two vessels and one steamship have sailed, with fair cargoes The bark Helen W Almy and the steamer Sierra Nevada for San Francisco and the Alfred Crosby for Victoria The Iba E will leave to-morrow, the Montana on Monday Vessels now on the way and due, are the bark Coquette from Honolulu, Almatia and Lucy from San Francisco.

We observe by our exchanges lately received from Victoria that an immense rush is expected to the new mines in British Columbia on the tributaries of the Columbia river, to go via Victoria and New Westminster In fact the people of the Colonies are working hard—exerting every means to draw ... miners to that region by the hundreds As to the means we have very reason to believe that they are both extensive and ... of the route to be traveled to reach them ... we have serious doubts as to the truth of the statements set forth in column advertisements and flaming posters by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce This poster announces to the people of California and other states, that besides being the shortest and safest route to Big Bend, the route via Victoria is the cheapest They tell us that passengers will ... the danger on the Columbia river bar ... that the distance is ... third less We are aware that the Governments of Vancouver Island and British Columbia have subsidized the steamers Active and Labor here ... to run between Victoria and New Westminster ... but we are not a fully convinced ... those miners are to get to Big Bend after they have the subsidized steamers The fact of this business is simply that the places of Victoria and New Westminster are about collapsed, any how and the people who are there having invested their money in flush times, know very well that the only hope for getting interest upon their investments is to induce travel that way In ordinary times both those towns are as dull as need be, but, based upon excitements—only by excitement can they exist Ask if the past years have not found this invariably true? The Chamber of Commerce advertise tabular statements of distances by the two routes From Victoria to Big Bend ... the following

To New Westminster by steamer	80 Miles
Thence to Yale by steamer	115
Thence to Savona's Ferry by stage	1...
Thence to Head of Shuswap Lake by steamer	111
Thence to Columbia river at a point 3 miles above the upper head of navigation by the Government trail	1...
Thence to Gold Creek by boat	30

Domestic Produce Market.

PORTLAND, March 2, 1866

In grain and flour, the receipts of the week by steamers to consignees have been large, but as there is a very limited demand the markets are inactive It is possible that holders are too firm There has been considerable activity for two or three days past in hams and bacon, but no changes are mentioned in prices.

The offerings of all general articles of farm produce continues light, and during the week there has been but a small accumulation to the stocks that are on hand, the lots going forward to the mining interior being about equal to the receipts For the moment markets are very dull

WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENTION of persons wanting Billiard Tables to the great superiority of the above tables, manufactured exclusively at their establishment

At the Billiard Congress of 1863, composed of all the first-class players of America, it was unanimously resolved that tables of our manufacture should be used at all matches for the Championship, as the best and only reliable tables

These Billiard Tables have received the unqualified approval of the best players and most competent judges, who have universally pronounced them unequaled for general excellence and durability.

Seven distinct patents for improvements in Billiard Tables have been granted to us by the United States Patent Office, and we have lately obtained a Patent from the French Government, for our improvement in Billiard Cushions

We employ, in the construction of our tables, a variety of machinery specially made for the purpose, by means of which we are enabled to insure a scientific and mechanical accuracy hitherto unknown in Billiard manufacture.

Having a long experience and thorough knowledge of all the appliances of Billiards, and constantly on hand a large stock of the best and most thoroughly seasoned materials, we are prepared to furnish everything required in the Billiard line with unprecedented dispatch.

The eminent French Billiard Player, M Berger, has published the following opinion:

"New York, 2d August, 1861

"On the eve of leaving the United States, I am happy to declare to all amateurs of Billiards that, after a tour of eleven months through the principal cities, I have been enabled to judge in a satisfactory manner of the superiority of the Billiard Tables manufactured by Phelan & Collender The system of manufacturing is so superior, that I am happy to introduce their style of ... into France They have united to their manufacture of American Billiard Tables that of the French Tables, of remarkable excellence and beauty For these reasons, I am happy to make this declaration.

"BERGER, CLAUDIUS,
Prof. of Billiards, Paris."

Parties ordering from us will find our prices as low as good work can possibly be made for. We sell first-class articles at a fair price, and will not make an inferior article at any price

Orders by mail carefully and promptly executed. Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists sent by mail. The "Billiard Cue," a journal published in the interest of Billiards, and containing details of all novelties, a copious record of Billiard news, and everything of interest to amateurs of Billiards, sent free on application.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are ... ing out a ... able existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places He therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

S... Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co
